

Violence against the working mother in the public sphere

This workshop deals with the status of women as working mothers in the public sphere and the different forms of violence and pressure they bear that affect the mental and reproductive health of women, and affect also the evolution of their performance in public sphere and have a negative impact on the integrity of the relationships within the family, where Moroccan women suffer from an accumulation of roles. And her status as a mother causes her exclusion from decision-making positions and delays her upward mobility in the hierarchy of functions she exercises. Thus we will tackle the following themes in order to reveal the suffering experienced by the working- mother, including the status of widowed women

Axis I

The legal theme will detect items and laws that frame the working mother in the public space and detect what is lacking in the legislative code

Axis II

The sociological theme will study the social forms of violence against the working mother including the results of studies on the widow mother and the psychological, social and material pressures she endures

Axis III

The medical axis deals with the psychological and health effects of the accumulation of roles on the working mother and its impact on children at the psychological level and on the performance in general.

The objectives of the workshop are:

- 1) To sensitize public opinion of the importance of the dimension of woman personality as a mother.
- 2) Stimulate research institutions to take into account this subject and to conduct research and field studies to detect the damage and obstacles which affect the mother-active.
- 3) Raising proposals to the organization of the United Nations and to the Commission on the Status of women for the formulation of conventions to improve the status of the mother-active or working mother.
